

Work Plan

Sébastien Lerique

1 Location and interlocutors

As explained in section 4 of the research project, all the work is planned to take place at the Centre Marc Bloch in Berlin.

My main interlocutors will be Camille Roth, co-advisor for my PhD and leader of the Digital Humanities/Computational Social Science team at the CMB, and Mehdi Moussaïd, researcher at the Max Planck Institute for Human Development in Berlin, with whom we have developed a collaboration around transmission chain experiments.

I have previously worked with several members of the Computational Social Science group, and their presence as well as discussions with the centre's PhD candidates and researchers in anthropology and linguistics will be particularly beneficial.
